

Patricia Bourque is a self-taught artist who works in a variety of mediums, but mostly egg-tempera, acrylic. She resides in Montreal and Vermont. Her accomplishments include: her own publishing company, Turtle hill Productions, in which she prints a line of greeting cards and limited edition prints. One of her original hockey painting was donated for auction to benefit the missing children's network sold for $10,000. Patricia has had many exhibitions in Canada and the U.S. and has received many awards for her exceptional talent.

